1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. FYI: NEED TO KNOW DATBy F. M. Baum This s NEED TO KNOW" data about transitioning from military to civilian business life. The author is a former military person. The author is also a Human Resources person who shares the story from "the other side of the desk" when viewing and reviewing resumes and applications. The point is to help military personnel be as effective when approaching target goal in civilian life as the military attempted to train them to be while in the military approaching military goals. You can attend a large number of seminars and hear less than Boyer details here. His business is being good at Human Resources hiring. He details how to be a prime candidate in his process. Pragmatically, there will always be "more", however this will take you from the "deer in the headlights" role to becoming capable of confident procurement of employment. I recommend reading this, and contacting the SBA, Small Business Administration, plus regional economic development personnel and gaining access to the active "build" process and decision making processes even though not starting a business yourself directly..It's where the action is. 0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. An absolutely utterly and disappointing product from a so-called HR professional!! By Jason D. Wagner An absolutely utterly and disappointing product from a so-called HR professional. It appears that 10 to 15 pages of both misspelled and poorly written material has been stretched across the span of 88 pages using a 14 font, double spaced and with 1-inch margins on each 5x8-inch page. Completely incomprehensible that someone with such a deep HR background would publish such a tragedy. You are guaranteed to get more accurate and useable information (professional and well written resumes, awesome interview techniques, and tried and true best practices) in order to help you transition from the military to the civilian workforce both successfully and seamlessly, simply by attending the Transition Assistance Program (TAP) and the Department of Labor (DOL) Workshop for FREE.

Resumes 101, Get in Step is a realistic view into the transitioning process of military personnel to the civilian world. Along with it is a unique perspective from within the mind of military veteran and career seasoned Human Resource and Staffing Professional, Mark W Boyer. He shares with you little known tips that are guaranteed to aid you in your metamorphosis to civilian life by providing you an inside look at how to write an effective resume, as well as what takes place during the screening and interview process. The difference between applying for a career and being considered for one lies within these pages.
