the job market several times, I've attended interview workshops, researched online and sought the advice of friends. Nothing compares to this book. It's like having your own personal coach and mentor. The author breaks down various components of the job interview process into easily understood, practical concepts. There is no need to memorize answers or stress, stress, stress over the common dreaded interview questions - instead you learn concepts that you can then apply. He teaches you what the interviewer is - and is not - looking for, what your responses say about you, how to deliver honest answers in a way that makes your talents and personality shine, and red flags to avoid. The insights from the interviewer's perspective are enlightening. Every aspect of the interview process has been analyzed, there is literally useful information on every page. And it doesn't read like dry material - it's a fast paced, surprisingly enjoyable read. The content is comprehensive, easy to understand, sensible, and different from other resources in this category. This book is an exceedingly valuable resource not only in getting a job, but in how to be the best YOU in any situation. The author is ingenious and insightful. A resource list and key word suggestions are included, and an accompanying video is available. (The book and video are offered at no cost to members of the military who are returning to the workforce. Who does that?? This author is truly exceptional.) Buy this book, you will return to it often - whether you are in the midst of a job search or not. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Fantabulous! Refreshing, Different, Approach to the Interview Process By NickPA This book was different than most of the interview books I've read lately. It does give you some advice that isn't your run of the mill advice and that I think would be very effective if used. I do however find the tactics not that user practical. I can see the benefits of interviewing the way the author suggests but it I really think for me personally it would create more of a nuisance than anything.
