Some pages rip cleanly on the dotted line, while others don't. For the most part it's content is pretty spot on, and I learned from it. Would recommend, it's just pages are horrible when you want to rip them out. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Book for Spanish class. By Jonathan, Buyer Good product, was very useful for classes. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Good for brushing up and expanding formal knowledge. By Stephanie F. The book was in pristine condition when received. The content was written so that it could be easily understood and the literature was interesting and informative. This definitely helped me brush up on my Spanish. The grammar sections were detailed and good examples were provided for each section.

Mirroring the structure of the textbook, the Student Activities Manual contains activities built on chapter readings, as well as activities for register, grammar, and spelling topics. It also offers cultural activities corresponding to the Herencias sections, and four to six review activities based on all aspects of each chapter.

About the Author Maria Carreira is Associate Professor of Spanish at California State University, Long Beach. She holds a Ph.D. in linguistics from the University of Illinois, Champaign. Carreira has written linguistic notes, profiles of well-known Hispanics, and heritage learner annotations. She is active in issues relating to heritage learners. Michelle Geoffrion-Vinci is an associate professor of Spanish at Lafayette College, Easton, Pennsylvania. A graduate of Wellesley College (A.B.) and Stanford University (M.A., Ph.D.), Geoffrion-Vinci specializes in contemporary literature of Spain, applied linguistics, and language-teaching methodologies. Having designed and taught a number of courses for heritage speakers of Spanish, one of her first publications was co-authored with Guadalupe Valdes on the topic of the development of linguistic register in college-age Spanish bilinguals. Her other research interests include contemporary poetry and Spanish women writers from the nineteenth century to the present. In her most recent publications, she interrogates issues of gender in works by Spanish authors such as Cristina Fernandez Cubas (1945-). She has also published numerous studies on Rosalia de Castro including Between the Maternal Aegis and the Abyss: Woman as Symbol in the Poetry of Rosalia de Castro (Madison, NJ: Fairleigh Dickinson UP, 2002). At Lafayette, Geoffrion-Vinci teaches courses on Spanish language, Peninsular literature and civilization from the eighteenth century to the present and on women writers of Spain and Latin America. She taught Lafayette's first course for native speakers and is a founding advisor to the College's Hispanic Society. She resides with her family in Easton, PA.
