gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Second Report of the Record Commissioners of the City of Boston: Containing the Boston Records, 1634-1660, and the Book of Possessions (Classic Reprint):

Excerpt from Second Report of the Record Commissioners of the City of Boston: Containing the Boston Records, 1634-1660, and the Book of Possessions It will be seen, however, that Boston still remains without a complete history in print, and that, therefore, the publication of any portion of its records is not unnecessary. It is also to be remembered that Boston now comprises at least three other ancient towns, each with records and a history of its own. These may well demand in the future a proper amount of attention, and require proportionate publication. It is hoped that the City Government will authorize the Record Commissioners to continue the work of publishing the records; of course not in full, but by means of such judicious selections as will afford valuable information about our predecessors.
