From Viking : The Penguin Encyclopedia of Horror and the Supernatural before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Penguin Encyclopedia of Horror and the Supernatural:

EXCELLENT REFERENCE WORKBy Magenta FuchsiaThis is an excellent, though not perfect, reference for any and all interested in horror literature, films and illustration. I insert the criticism because, when I read this book from cover to cover, I noticed three or four slight errors. I would contact the editors, but my edition was published some time ago, and I don't know whether there have been subsequent editions. I know for a fact that one of the editors, Jacques Barzun, has passed away. Speaking of same, I have a bit of a grudge against him because he went out of his way, in the Introduction, to criticize H.P. Lovecraft, an author whom I admire greatly. Mr. Barzun was completely dismissive of Mr. Lovecraft's writing. Having said that, I still recommend this work. The articles are very well written, and the illustrations are of the highest quality. I have been a connoisseur of horror most of my life, yet I discovered artists new to me, and much regarding those with whom I was already familiar. If you are like me, you will prize this book as one to be read and referred to often. Enjoy!3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. The best survey in this field--and the most interestingBy Bob ShawOf the many surveys and encyclopedias of this subject, this is the most interesting and most authoritative. Jack Sullivan is well-known in this area--his book of music in Hitchcock's films is masterful, as well.2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Not what I expected; still interestingBy A DogThis encyclopedia contains many examples of supernatural and horror as it is found in old films, television and other forms of media. I thought that this book would be more contemporary and venture more outside of the theatre.

Introduction by Jacques Barzun. More than fifty essay and six hundred entries written by over fifty authorities in the field. Dust jacket tattered at the head of the spine, two very short closed tears at the lower edge of the front panel. xxxvii, ii , 482 pages. quarter cloth, paper-covered boards, dust jacket. 4to.
